

A SEASON OF BIRTH

There is reason to mourn what is dying, but far more reason to celebrate what is being born. The divine-human being is breaking free of the chains of matter and entering an age of spiritual light. To be present at the birth is to witness the greatest spectacle in the long history of human evolution.

The consciousness of animal-man will give way to the Soul aware of its divinity. It is not possible to fully convey the magnitude of this turning-point. The planetary life-wave is ascending to a realm where the love and wisdom, the grace, beauty, and light of the divine human Soul will create an enlightened civilization.

We urge you to leave the world of the dying and enter the world of the living. Behind the chaos and lawlessness of these times, a new order is being born within the human soul.

The coming Age of Light is the age of the Soul – the age of consciousness that derives from the human soul awakening to its spiritual origins. It will unfold at a higher bandwidth of Earth's frequencies where you will see that all is energy. In place of lines of separation that have blinded humans to the essential oneness of all lives, points of light will be interconnected within a boundless sea of etheric energies. The light of God will re-enter the world like a tidal wave arriving on the shores of human awareness.

In the coming evolutionary cycle, the world will be infused with light of many kinds: the light of understanding and wisdom, the light of beauty and truth, the light of meaning and purpose, the light of compassion and love. The light of mind will discover the light that is pure love.

The expanding light of the soul will evoke the light of the Great Ones who passed through the stages of human evolution and currently dwell on higher planes. Many will be actively involved with human beings in bringing 'heaven and earth' into closer proximity and co-creating the new world.

Grief will turn to joy for those who have opened the inner eye of the soul. They will realize that all is in divine order; that evolutionary forces are aiding and guiding the passage of Earth into a subtler realm. All is leading to the gates of 'the new Jerusalem' where God will re-enter human awareness and holiness will be restored to life on Earth.

It is essential to realize that life is composed of many layers of reality, whose starkest delineation is between the visible and invisible worlds. We are drawing the curtain back further that you may realize the proximity of the inner worlds.

Just as one cannot pry open a rose before its time without destroying the petals, a human soul cannot be forced to awaken before the ripeness of time. Until then, words are merely words to be accepted or rejected.

When the moment of readiness arrives, however, the light of truth leaps from the printed page like a flash of lightning, illuminating the darkness. This will occur with growing frequency as the new wave of etheric light engulfs the planet.

The new wave of planetary Life is quickly approaching our shores, sweeping away everything in its path that would obscure the incoming forces of light.

The planetary Logos, the Lord of Earth, is giving birth to kingdoms of life on a more subtle dimension. The evolution of consciousness will unfold on the etheric plane. This is not a 'heaven,' but a dimension where hindrances to the life of spirit are fewer. We are telescoping a monumental planetary process that will unfold over the course of nearly 26,000 orbits of Earth around the Sun.

The Age of Light will encompass an entire "heavenly year" – the period during which our Star moves through the band of twelve constellations encircling its systemic Life.

Extreme weather fluctuations are signs of the current disequilibrium of life on Earth and also of the fluctuating atmosphere in which Earth exists. The entire Galaxy is pulsing with new energies affecting the lives of billions of star systems. This is a season of birth for worlds within worlds.

The new age and its new world are upon us. In place of a terra firma governed by gravity, the new body of the Mother of the World will be a terra lucida governed by consciousness. The Lord of the World, the fashioner of all that has ever been, has declared a new day. Divinity will be unearthed from the tomb of matter.

When darkness is most intense, sparks of light can be more easily seen. When shades of gray turn into blackness, the smallest point of light will look like a star. In this dying world, there are those who see only darkness, and there are those who recognize the stars. They are the ones who are on their way into the age of light.

You are leaving the realm of matter, the birthplace of the higher Self, and entering a plane where that Self will come to maturity. Under the guidance of spiritual elders, humanity will spawn a civilization of enlightened souls pooling their limitless energies to co-create a new world.

Everything now occurring is in alignment with the plan of evolution. Dark forces clinging to their strongholds in the valleys of the human mind are carving a path of destruction for that which has outlived its usefulness; evolutionary forces are etching a trajectory toward the Light.

The spiritual forces that brought the race to this point of emergence are swinging in a new direction, as matter wanes and spirit waxes. The Soul is already bringing to light the limits of material consciousness. The best use of these times is to go within and tap the cosmic currents pouring abundantly into the Earth. As you do so, their spiritual gift-waves will become more available.

The significance of this time for humanity can only be compared to the birth of the human species millions of years ago. Extra-planetary Beings endowed the higher animals of that time with a spark of the faculty of mind, bringing a new dimension of awareness into the natural world alongside the sentiency of mineral, plant and animal kingdoms.

Hidden inside the power to reason and think abstractly, which led to the Age of Enlightenment and the birth of modern science and technology, is the human potential to express divinity that is about to bring even more radical change.

We stand on the threshold of a new world in a new dimension of planetary Life. The future can be glimpsed in the following statements: all is energy, light is a form of energy, all living beings have a body of light, the wave of Earth is about to enter a field of light.

If you can grasp the idea that a planet has multiple incarnations, as does a human being and a solar system, you will glimpse the core idea that the body of a planet, solar system, and a human being can take on subtler forms as they evolve.

Many understand that an age is ending but do not comprehend that the new age will unfold on higher ground. As the angle of ascent begins, the planetary life wave enters territory for which there are few descriptive terms outside the language of light and vibrations. The lifting of the etheric veil will reveal a shimmering world of light, a resplendent spectacle of hues and textures, the streaming of rays from other planets and constellations into the sphere of Earth.

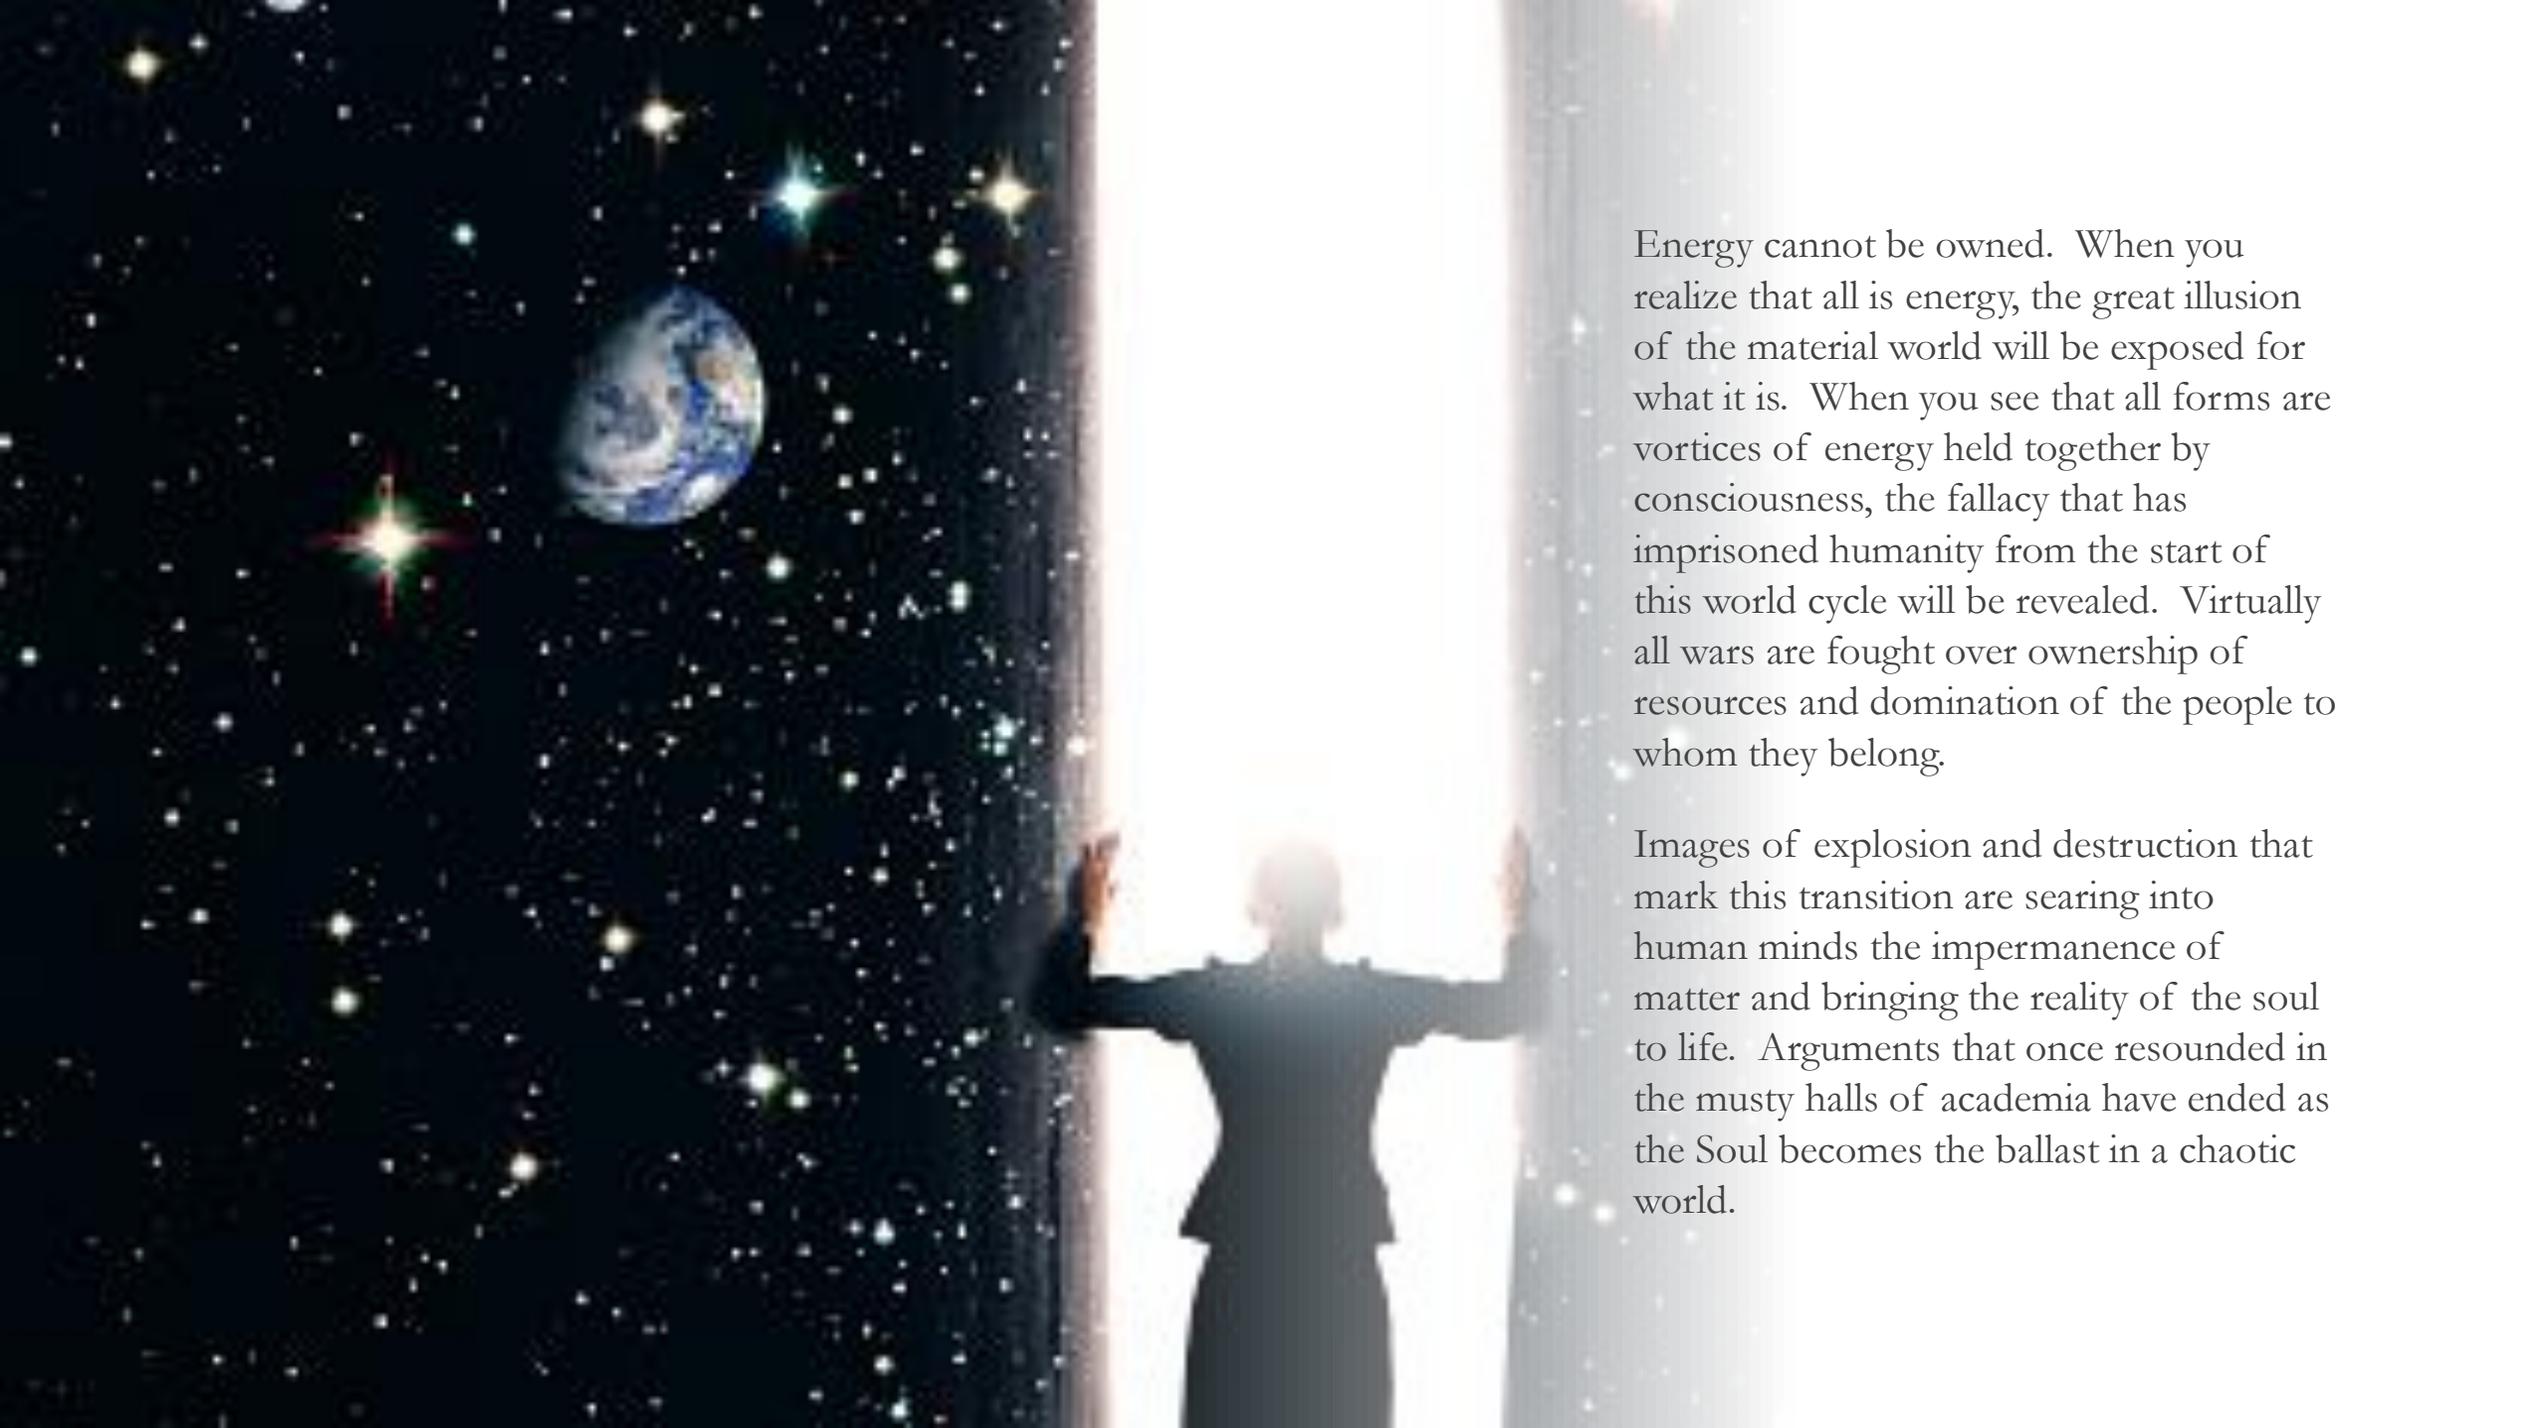

After eons of incarnation in physical matter, only a few human beings can yet sense the reality of a 'city of light' – a higher world where the light inherent in life will be made visible.

The entire course of human evolution has been leading to the moment when the awakened Soul would find the way into the 'promised land.' Material possessions belong to the personality living in a world of physical matter. Private ownership is based on the appearance of separateness and the belief that flows from it: that an object, a resource, even a person can be appropriated as private property. The soul possesses nothing but the fruits of experience (both positive and negative).

---

It owns only hard-won accumulations of love and wisdom, higher intelligence and spiritual will.

Energy cannot be owned. When you realize that all is energy, the great illusion of the material world will be exposed for what it is. When you see that all forms are vortices of energy held together by consciousness, the fallacy that has imprisoned humanity from the start of this world cycle will be revealed. Virtually all wars are fought over ownership of resources and domination of the people to whom they belong.

Images of explosion and destruction that mark this transition are searing into human minds the impermanence of matter and bringing the reality of the soul to life. Arguments that once resounded in the musty halls of academia have ended as the Soul becomes the ballast in a chaotic world.

The image shows a view of the Earth from space, with the planet's horizon curving across the bottom half. The sky is a deep blue, filled with wispy white clouds. A bright light source, likely the sun, is positioned behind the horizon, creating a dramatic sunburst effect with rays of light radiating outwards. The overall color palette is dominated by various shades of blue, from deep navy to bright cyan, with white highlights from the clouds and the sunburst.

The idea of a new heaven and earth has inspired humanity for millennia, since well before the oft-quoted Book of Revelation. People of every faith have harbored a longing for a paradise on earth which many would define, in present global conditions, as a just and peaceful world. In spite of the harshest realities, human beings have clung to the belief that a time would come when Earth would be redeemed by Higher Forces and join ‘the heavenly realm’.

A new Earth will instead be born of a merger of two kingdoms of life that were separated by a chasm for millions of years. The growth of human consciousness toward the Light of Spirit will evoke the presence of higher Beings.

In the depths of the human soul there has always been a yearning to return to a state that existed eons ago, at the start of the cycle of involution in matter, when matter and spirit were only vaguely differentiated. This state was cleansed from active memory but never completely lost.

The perennial dream is based on an age whose embers have remained aglow in the deepest recesses of the soul, awaiting the day of resurrection. Two thousand years ago, the disciple John of Patmos gave it voice, evoking the return of God at the end of the age and the creation of a new world.

*Click here for the next section*