

EFFECTS
LIGHT EXPOSURE

Pockets of darkness remaining within the human soul will be subject to the revealing power of light and thus more readily transmuted. Karmic debts will not be erased by entering a lighted field, yet greater exposure to divine forces will produce a stronger impetus to dissolve shadows remaining in the mask of the persona, obstructing the light of the soul.

Glamours and illusions will continue to shape the human world until the end of the coming age, when spiritual purity is attained by a critical mass of souls who will enter the Kingdom of Souls. Light exposure will advance the expansion of this higher Kingdom.

Evolved human beings will recognize the power of the vibrations of thought and emotion in molding the experiences of individuals and groups. People drawn together by resonance will find that glammers and illusions will be magnified by the group field. In this fluid world of the ethers, however, when an individual finds that the initial group resonance turns to dissonance, that 'unit of consciousness' can move to a higher vibratory sphere simply by shifting awareness.

When the light of the soul gives birth to love and an individual radiates love into the etheric field, a magnetic sphere is created that has the power to quicken the spiritual progress of other souls on the Path, just as that soul's path was quickened by more evolved Beings. Many will learn to embody and radiate divine qualities by treading the path that leads into the spiritual Hierarchy.

A great and divine purpose will be worked out in the coming age through the subtle alignment of human souls with the ashrams of the Masters of Wisdom, those who guide all seekers through the stages of higher evolution. Just as the archer aligns his bow with the bull's eye of a target, the soul learns to align its will with the purpose held in the Mind of God.

One of the greatest attainments of the human race in the past century has been the equal treatment of human beings regardless of race, gender, religion, class or disability—all the categories used by human beings to define each other on the material plane. It is obvious that this goal has been unevenly achieved in developed nations and barely at all in other nations, yet the subtle forces behind the wave of globalization have spurred nations and corporations to advance closer toward the goal. The unfinished business of humanity in this arena is seen in the fiery clashes between religions and classes, between the powerful and powerless.

In the new era, when the stream of evolution shifts to the realm of consciousness, human beings will be seen not as forms but as seeds of light struggling to find a greater Light. Equality will be perceived within a context of enlightenment. Those who arrive at the same level of radiance will be recognized as equal. The most salient differences within a group or nation will be observed in degrees of wisdom and understanding.

Behind the door to the Aquarian Age lies a world of energy intersected by infinite lines of light of varying intensities. Individuals and groups who emit strong waves of electro-magnetism will attract kindred souls. Those of the greatest luminosity will be recognized as members of the spiritual Hierarchy.

As the new civilization takes form, the Hierarchy will become the main source of teachers and leaders, drawing many to the path of return to Spirit. Few among the active seekers of light will resist the living examples of enlightened Beings who have followed this Path to its end yet have chosen to remain on Earth to serve those who come after them. Over time, growing numbers of seekers will turn to them for guidance and leadership, realizing that these Beings see from the highest perspective and understand from the deepest well of wisdom.

A new hierarchy of values will also become manifest in the new Earth. It will elevate the welfare of society over the preferences of the individual. Pleasures of the flesh will give way to joys of the soul, one of which will be the satisfaction of achieving common goals that serve the greater Good.

Education will focus on spiritual growth and the soul's participation in the evolutionary plan. Healing will involve the soul's awareness of karmic patterns that block the circulation of energy and limit creative expression. Enterprise will be sparked by the observation of need and creative intuition about how to meet it.

This portrayal of the future will seem like the stuff of imagination from the perspective of human history. It will sound foreign and even fantastic to human ears accustomed to the dialectics of conflict and duality. We would urge you to be open to the inevitability that human consciousness will expand in the direction described.

There will be a level of awareness that transcends extreme oppositions and seeks the balance that brings harmony for the sake of the common sphere of life. In place of good and evil, light and dark, friend and foe, the many gradations of light will become apparent, exposing the reality of a hierarchy of light.

The divine hierarchy of lives on Earth will be revealed in the new world. It will be understood that the lord of our world, the Planetary Logos, serves under the guidance and direction of the divine Being known as the Solar Logos, the lord of our solar system and creator of the plan of evolution for all planets in the family of the Sun.

Guided by the planetary lord, the spiritual Hierarchy works out the evolutionary plan, calling upon the assistance of advanced human beings whenever possible. This divine hierarchy of lives will become externalized in the age of light, bringing about a new order. When this reality seeps into human awareness and gains a foothold there, the new age will be underway.

Imagine a sea of lighted substance populated with Beings who appear as stations of light. The 'wattage' of pure consciousness emitted by them would nearly blind the physical eye. Spiritual Teachers will be seen as light stations, their chelas drawn to them by the frequencies of light and love. Their teachings will reveal the Grand Design of the Creator of our world through the light of understanding which nurtures love and wisdom. The consciousness emanating from the Hierarchy of Light will be the most powerful organizing force in the new world.

The term 'divine being' will gradually become archaic, as the divinity within all forms becomes self-evident in the future. It will be recognized that Divine Light is the source of all life and that it permeates the entire sphere of Earth.

Those considered divine Beings, such as members of the Hierarchy, have assimilated and embodied this light to a greater extent than ordinary human beings. The magnitude of their light will amplify the light of the human soul as Earth evolves into its destined future.
